Kebora Weir - Behavioral Analyst

Kristin Greer - Compliance Analyst

Tanya Gonzalez - IT Risk Analyst

Starr Blake - Cyber Threat Analyst

Team Building Plan

Team building is important to create a team that cohesively works together. It strengthens planning, communication, motivation and collaboration. It helps to establish trust, and recognize blind spots among the team.

How will you get to know each other better through your Team Building Plan?

- Team building events will be used to analyze each other's strengths and weaknesses
- Focus on everyone's approach to problem solving
- Share knowledge of what was learned for the week

How will your Team Building Plan specifically address improving trust and morale?

- Consistent communication on "impediments/blockers" - what is working or not working for the group
- Check on knowledge and if any additional assistance
- Ensure psychological safety

How will your Team Building Plan foster communication and collaboration?

- Consistent communication in Signal app
- Define teammates schedule

Team Building Plan ideas/schedule

- Getting to know each other
- Improving trust and morale by learning from each other
- To foster communication and collaboration
- Icebreakers to get to know each other
- Virtual escape rooms
- Spy Apprenticeship
- Scattergories
- Codenames
- Drawing game - Skribbl.io
- Psychological test (like the 16Personalities test):
 - The 16Personalities test, which is based on the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI), can be a valuable tool in team building exercises. This tool has made us not only know each other better and improve trust but also laugh at the different ways we can communicate, deal with conflict resolutions and strengthen collaborations within our team. As you can see here, our team is diverse not only in culture and ethnicity, but also in personalities. These include Turbulent Protagonist, Campaigner and

Mediators, from having managers motivating society and in work to campaigners in brightening the world around them to artistic mediators in simplifying the world's drama.

Note-team members are working from different time zones

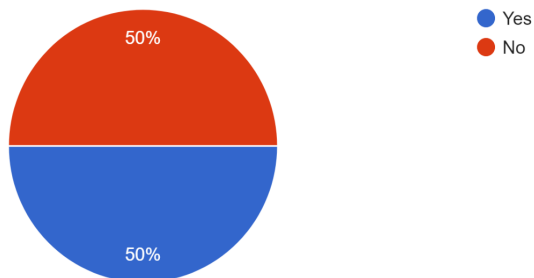

- Kristin is in Pacific Time Zone
- Tanya is in East Time Zone
- Kebora is in the East Time Zone
